

Safety Culture and Leadership Course at HELI-EXPO 2014

Attendees will learn real-world scenarios that they can begin using immediately in their flight operations to implement or enhance their existing safety management system. The following five topics will be covered: group cohesion as a safety factor, integrity for small groups and individuals, leadership, followership, and the next generation. Attendees will leave the session with immediate takeaways for use in current flight departments and a fresh look at safety culture from the perspective of an operating flight department with many of the same challenges and difficulties attendees face.

Directions: Classroom 304B.
